Make a timeless statement with Amtico Décor

At its heart, Amtico Décor is about detail.

It takes the craft and pattern of classic British flooring and reimagines them for modern homes. Each design is precision-cut and made in Britain, blending heritage style with the everyday benefits of Luxury Vinyl Tile (LVT). Warm underfoot, easy to look after, and built to last, Décor is where beauty and practicality come together.

Designs with purpose and personality

Classic Goldstone
DC487

Amtico Décor does more than cover a floor; it helps define your space.

Use it to frame a fireplace, refresh a hallway, or link two adjoining rooms with ease. With a range of design options, complementary colour combinations and fine borders, it's simple to create a look that feels personal. Whether you want a subtle accent or a striking centrepiece, this collection turns everyday rooms into something more personal.

DID YOU KNOW?

Amtico Décor is made with the same construction as our premium Signature LVT. The finished floor will stand up to heavy footfall and repeated cleaning cycles without losing impact.

Flooding - make an impact

Sometimes the best way to use Décor is to go all out.

Flooding the entire floor with one pattern creates instant impact, from traditional geometrics to elegant Parquet style designs. It's a confident choice that sets the tone of a room. Hallways, kitchens, and living spaces all benefit from that edge-to-edge detail. And because it's Amtico, you get intricate design with the warmth and practicality of LVT.

Framing and zoning

Flooring can shape a room as much as it covers it.

With Amtico Décor, you can frame architectural features, carve out areas in an open-plan space, or create flow between rooms.

Pairing a patterned tile with something simple sets gentle boundaries: a kitchen island, a reading nook, or even a home office can all have their own identity without the need for walls.

Rug features

The rug is no longer an afterthought, it's part of the plan.

With Décor, you can create the look of a rug by framing a section with contrasting tiles. Highlight a dining area or mark out a cosy seating corner.

Frame your rug feature with a simple plank or go intricate by stacking a border. Either way, it's a design trick that feels playful, personal, and completely practical.

Thresholds

A threshold is where one room meets the next, and with Décor, it can feel deliberate rather than functional. A slim strip gives a neat, seamless link, while a patterned detail turns the transition into part of the design. The Pyramid border, for example, works beautifully between two wood looks, adding polish without fuss. Small choices like these help your home feel more considered.

Borders - the finishing touch

Create your own style

Borders bring a room together.

Borders offer everything from single strips to layered patterns. Start with your main floor, then frame it with a contrasting or complementary edge. Use borders to define a hallway, edge a dining area, or surround a kitchen island. However you choose to use them, they add intention and a sense of completion.

"Borders are the perfect finishing touch for your space. When combined with a complementary perimeter product, they are a fantastic way of framing your interior, and they can be used to dial up or down the level of decoration desired."
